Cultural - St David is the patron saint of Wales and he is celebrated on the 1 March. ... Patron saints are chosen to be special protectors or guardians over all areas of life.

When is St David's Day?

Each year St David's Day is celebrated on 1st March to mark the day St David died in 589 AD. His remains are buried at St David's Cathedral and his shrine became a place of pilgrimage in the Middle Ages.

Why is St David's Day celebrated?

St David's Day is a celebration of the patron saint of Wales. Traditionally, the Welsh celebrate by wearing a daffodil and/or a leek.

When were daffodils first sold in Britain?

Daffodils of all sizes and shapes have been seen in England since the 17th century; Shakespeare celebrated them as the flower that "comes before the swallow dares", and bunches of wild blooms were sold by flower girls on the streets of London. However, the farming of daffodils for cut-flower sales did not start until the late 19th century.
