

Finding a Book

The Library is a very organised place, every resource has its home.

Non-Fiction books are organised using the Dewey Decimal System. Each book is given a number. This number tells us where the book can be found and where to return it to. Use the Library Catalogue or the Library Subject Index to find out the Dewey Decimal number for a book.

The Fiction books are organised Alphabetically using the Authors last name. For instance, J.K Rowling will be found under 'R'.

Remember, to return resources to where they belong, if you don't know where a resource belongs, place it on the teal trolley by the Library desk.

If you can't find what you are looking for, ask the Librarian for help.
